

Letter of Recommendation

To whom it may concern:

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Anton Grachev, who recently completed an internship as a backend developer at Avito Tech LLC. Although Anton is at the beginning of his career in software development, he has already demonstrated a number of qualities that make him a promising professional in this field.

During his internship, Anton quickly adapted to our team's technology stack and development processes. His ability to independently handle tasks was impressive — he consistently delivered high-quality work with minimal supervision. This independence is especially noteworthy for someone early in their career, and it was evident that Anton possesses a strong ability to learn and apply new concepts effectively.

Anton also stood out for his proactivity and curiosity. He actively sought out additional responsibilities and took the initiative to dive deeper into the project he was assigned. This proactive approach not only helped him meet the goals set for his internship but also allowed him to exceed expectations in several areas. His eagerness to explore new technologies and understand the intricacies of our systems greatly contributed to his success.

Furthermore, Anton demonstrated excellent communication skills and a natural talent for networking. He quickly established contacts with team members, which enabled him to collaborate effectively and gather the information necessary to excel in his tasks. His ability to build these connections played a significant role in his seamless integration into the team.

In summary, Anton has shown great potential as a backend developer. His independence, proactivity, and ability to build strong professional relationships are qualities that will serve him well as he continues to grow in his career. I am confident that Anton will be a valuable asset to any team he joins, and I highly recommend him for any position that aligns with his skills and interests.

Sincerely,
Artem Bronitskii
Backend Engineer
